New Hobo King Visits Marion on Domain Tour

GEORGE the Fifth is king of England Paul Whiteman is king of jazz and Al Kaufman is king of the hoboes, at least he says he is Since the sudden demise of James Eads How, former king of the hoboes who died last week Kaufman who claims London England as his starting place in life, has entered into all his glories as king of the road Kaufman was so he says the recognized crown prince of the road for a long time preceding How's death

Seldom Get Royalty

Marion doesn't often receive royalty as guests In fact no one is sure the present royalty as exactly a guest Kaufman breezed into the city yesterday after spending a short time as a guest of one of the better hotels in the neighboring city of Mansfield He claims to have been received with open arms as a guest of a hotel here However the management of the hotel vigorously denied this Consequently Kaufman appears to be just another one of the Knights of the Road who comes into the city in an unheralded manner and who departs in a like manner

Kaufman a youth of 21 years claims to have traveled over most of the globe since he departed his native shores of England at the age of eight years Three hundred thousand miles have been left behind he says since he left Cockney town

Kaufman is writing a hobo epic I A Gentleman Hobo's Life half finished he claims and under contract with a well known publisher for publication It will be released some time next fall Kaufman estimated in the interview

Nearly Fashion Plate

Unlike the usual hobo Kaufman does not travel the rods or other like conveyances which usually attract the average rover He travels in style aboard the cushions of the passenger trains Where he gets all the necessary money for such travel he does not reveal except to say that he lives by his wits One thing certain about Kaufman—about the only certain thing there is — he does not get it by working Hoboes just don't do that sort of thing Nordoes he affect the usual hobo garb He is almost a fashion plate

Kaufman will spend a day and tonight in this city after which he will depart for regions unknown to other than himself Maybe he will be more fortunate in other cities in obtaining free lodging for His Majesty Has nothing it in Marion

BOYS FROM FARM HEAD LIST AT O. S. U.

Rural District Students by Far Most Numerous in Enrollment

BY MURRAY POWERS
Staff Correspondent of The Star

COLUMBUS O July 29—The boy from the farm are "it" again up the records again This time it's in the educational field

In the last scholastic year at Ohio State university there were 11 195 students and farmers sons and daughters leading all other groups in the number in attendance They outnumbered the second largest group children of merchants three to one

In the total enrollment 1 708 students gave farmer or rancher as the occupation of their fathers Six hundred and sixty six were children of merchants

A large number of interesting features were found in the attendance records of the state's largest educational institution as revealed by Miss Edith D Cockins registrar

There were nearly 1 5 individual occupations given

Sons and daughters of bankers brokers and the so called well to do classes were in the minority—more students coming from humbler and more modest homes

Following farmers and merchants the most numerous groups were Salesmen 5 8 business executives 5— government state and municipal employes 416 railway employes 107 contractors and builders 330 school officials 1 accountants clerks and bookkeepers 195 and physicians surgeons and nurses 10

Sickness Made Easier

MANY patients in City hospital were made happy one day last week

A huge florist box was delivered to Miss Mary B Pleasant hospital superintendent On the envelope attached were the words "To Those Who Have No Flowers" and on the card inside From A Marigonite

Inside were five dozen gladiolas in all the beauty of their multi colors and with the greenery that goes to make up pretty bouquets

Well Married

BECAUSE the woman used a wrong name in obtaining a license a young Ivel couple was forced to go through a marriage ceremony twice this week

The woman May E Smith applied for a license under the name of Mary Young taking the last name of the people with whom she lived After they were married she conferred with her parents who live in another part of the city and discovered she should have used her real name

Accompanied by the parents the people with whom she lived and her husband Robert Foster the woman went back to the license bureau in probate court had the record and license changed and the couple proceeded to have the wedding performed all over again

Tourist's Dollars

MERCHANTS get 20 cents of every tourist dollar a survey made by the American Automobile association shows according to Mrs D V Gallagher secretary of the Marion Auto club

The association's statement is based on an analysis of tourist expenditures made by the organization's research department

This means Mrs Gallagher says that of the $1 000 000 000 expended by the nation's motor tourist caravan each year more than $1 000 000 000 goes into the tills of merchants and shopkeepers and affords striking proof of the beneficial effect of travel on the economic life of the nation

While the merchants come first in the list of beneficiaries the restaurants and hotels obtain a very substantial share

Our beneficiaries are gasoline stations theaters and confectionaries besides many others

Young Lochinvars

CHIVALRY is apparently not alive, there's a thing of the past in Marion at least insofar as some young men are concerned This was demonstrated convincingly Friday night in front of the Hotel Harding when four persons loafing near the hotel went to the assistance of two women and changed a tire for them

Seeing the women had had a flat tire of the Palace theater with a flat tire the four individuals in question waited just long enough for them to get the tools out of the car before going to their assistance

Bishop Raymond J. Wade, formerly of Evanston, Illinois, but now head of the Methodist church in northern Europe, says that close proximity to an atheist government has caused the reawakening of Christians in the Balkan states. Naturally! What else could be expected with the awful example of soviet Russia next door? Example is ever far more effective than precept.

The French, who are enjoying a degree of prosperity previously unknown in the history of their republic, are not only importing laborers, but also accumulating one of the greatest gold reserves of all times, shipments of gold from this country to Paris in the last ten days having aggregated $26,000,000. And France has been making a poor mouth ever since the war! Can you beat it?

Pointing out that this year's French budget is 52,000,000,000 francs against the pre-war budget of 5,000,000,000 francs, Premier Tardieu recently scared Socialism, holding that, including sinking funds and local budgets, the French tax burden is 72,000,000,000. Over here we have much the same socialistic policies but here we refer to them as relief measures or reforms.

City-Bought Foods the Cheapest.

At the time that enthusiasm for hard-surfaced roads was being developed, one of the arguments for their construction was that the city dweller could drive out into the country when good roads obtained and buy his fruits and vegetables at prices far below those asked by his home dealers. And a lot of people believed it, as it meant the elimination of at least one middleman. As a matter of fact some believe it yet.

Most people who have tested the idea out, however, have come to the conclusion that the cheap-buying-in-the-country idea is only another theory which will not work out in practice; that the fruits or vegetables on the roadside stand will cost the consumer about the same as those he buys in the market.

And now comes W. A. Sherman, chief of the fruit and vegetable division of the bureau of economics of the United States department of agriculture, who says that seasonable table supplies can be obtained more cheaply on the whole at city markets than at roadside market stands.

"If the buyer knows the city market and where to buy, to the best advantage," is the way he puts it, "in the long run he can supply his table more cheaply in the city than at roadside stands."

The explanation of this department of agriculture division chief is that many of the offerings of the roadside seller are not raised by him. That some are raised by his neighbors and some are secured at city markets and stores. Thus there is the same middleman feature on the products raised by the neighbors and an extra middleman's profit on the products purchased from the city dealer, and this, he says, is also often true in the case of hucksters.

Experience has shown many that there is no saving to be gained by roadside marketing, and this agriculture department official holds that ultimately it occasions loss, but it will probably be some time before the woman who has driven a $4,000 sedan ten miles to get two cents a quart off on four quarts of berries and meanwhile purchased a couple of muskmelons at a five-cent advance each over the market believes it, or figures meanwhile on what the oil and gas consumed on the trip cost.

Private and Press Rights.

Writing in the current issue of the Editor and Publisher, Marlen Pew seeks to make plain to the newspaper fraternity Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's feeling of resentment over what he terms "the invasion of the private rights of citizens" by some newspapers.

Speaking from first-hand knowledge on the subject as a result of a talk with the colonel, Mr. Pew says that Lindbergh draws the line between the right of the press to report such activities on his part as relate to the scientific development of air travel and what he calls personal curiosity. "The constructive press," the colonel told Mr. Pew, "has been both kind and generous to me ever since I have been flying," and he went on to mention newspaper men who have been helpful, intelligently critical, fair in their reports and considerate of his private rights. But some papers, the colonel went on to say, resorted to practices which he considered contemptible, and he minced no words in condemning such papers which, he held, catered to morbid curiosity and are concerned with private gossip to the exclusion of matters in the realm of things, ideas and ideals.

Colonel Lindbergh frankly stated that he felt outraged when some reporters followed him on his honeymoon and "for eight straight hours" circled in a noisy motor boat about their boat anchored in a New England harbor, occasionally calling out that if he would pose for one picture they would go away. He resented the fact, also, that it was necessary to keep a guard at his wife's home, and related an instance where an attempt had been made to bribe a servant to betray secrets of the household. He also held the heralding of the coming of the Lindbergh baby as objectionable.

Were the issue limited to Colonel Lindbergh and the sensational element of the press it would not rightly be one of so great interest as it is, but as a matter of fact the issue is not that of Colonel Lindbergh alone against that element of the press, but of the entire citizenship of the country as well. The same element against which the colonel complains is habitually intruding on the rights of citizens in utter disregard of the ethics of decent journalism, a canon of which is that newspapers should not invade private rights or feelings without sure warrant of public right as distinguished from public curiosity.

Colonel Lindbergh has seen fit to criticize certain papers for what he considers the invasion of his private rights, but there is a ground for blanket criticism of the entire American press; not only its sensational element, but its moderate and ultra-conservative as well. Reference is made to the tendency of the press to encourage hero worship. In fact, it is more than a tendency. It has become a habit. It not only builds up enthusiasm for the homecoming greeting of one who has blazed the way across the North Atlantic by air, or one who has circled a pole by plane, or a successful channel swimmer, but also for those who have made hazardous ventures and failed, and it has literally used up great carloads of good news print in exploiting sluggers of the diamond or squared circle who have achieved beyond the ordinary. Not only that, but it has continued with follow-up stories, week after week, months after month and year after year.

It may be newspaper heresy to say so, but while, we have the highest appreciation of the wonderfully daring and accurate flight of Lindbergh and the feats of Byrd, we have often seriously wondered if the public isn't tiring a bit of the almost unceasing newspaper attention being given them and ready to have its attention directed along some other lines.

It took eighteen stitches to close a wound on an Omaha man's head received on a miniature golf course out in Los Angeles. He couldn't have been much worse hurt physically had he tackled the real game.

Of course, we must expect an occasional mistake on the part of the weather bureau. It balled things up a bit by sending us some other population center's weather, yesterday, instead of the ideal Marion brand.

During the annual meeting of the American Bar association in Chicago next month, an effort will be made to demonstrate to the distinguished foreign jurists and legal lights in attendance that Chicago is far from so black as it has been painted in Europe. Let us hope that the Chicago gunmen and gangsters will take due notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Twelve new 625-horsepower American motors are being installed in the great German seaplane, DOX. The Germans excel in dirigible construction and are expert builders of planes, but when they want the best thing in the motor line, they come to America.

It is the claim of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform that there are now five speakeasies in Nassau county, New York, for every saloon which formerly existed there, but for the life of us we can't see what benefit such a statement is going to prove to the fellows who "can drink it or let it alone." Why doesn't the organization issue a directory of the oases?

The late James Nowbegin Jarvis, of Newark, New Jersey, who left an estate of $38,000,000, bequeathed $26,000,000 to the Jarvis commonwealth fund for the relief of needy old people, so a decree setting apart the fund last week disclosed. If rightly administered, what a blessing this philanthropy will work!

Four hundred and forty-two drink addicts were treated at the Keeley Institute at Dwight, Illinois, during the first six months of the present year, as compared with 393 during the same period in 1929, this year's record being the highest for a similar period since 1907. It's getting mighty hard to evade the suspicion that somebody fooled us about how the prisons and jails as well as the drink cures would go out of business when prohibition legally obtained.

THE DOCTOR.

Editorial Opinion.

SOME PLAIN TARIFF TRUTHS.

Senator Smoot, principal author of the new tariff bill, who has been the guest of the President at the White House, has made a statement concerning that law which utterly demolishes many of the weird predictions about the effect it was going to have on our foreign relations. The foreign outbursts over the measure, which the Democrats have been rolling round their tongues with great gusto, are shown to be without the slightest foundation in fact. As these parrot cries will be repeated very often during the next few months, the declaration of the senator from Utah is of more than ordinary importance.

He takes the case of France as an example and shows that we buy goods from that country to the value of $156,000,000 a year. If we add to that about $300,000,000 of tourist money we find that the French receive from us approximately $450,000,000 annually, as against about $180,000,000 which they spend for goods they purchase in the United States. The volume in trade, including the tourist money, in favor of France, amounts to $270,000,000, which, it must be admitted, is a tidy little sum. The total average increase in the duties on goods coming from that country is a little over three per cent. Hardly enough to account for the lamentations that have been coming from our French cousins.

But that is not all. France habitually discriminates against American goods, not because of any ill-feeling against us, but rather on account of their tariff methods. Our rates are to all countries alike. The French government has a maximum and minimum tariff by which it bargains with other countries for favored positions. "The net result of this," says Senator Smoot, "is that sharp discriminations are set up against American goods." These discriminations have had a serious effect on our exports to France. The senator says that since they were put into effect our exports to France have either decreased or have not increased as they would under normal conditions.

In other words, if there is any complaint over tariff questions the complaint rests with the United States. The fact is commended to the consideration of those apologetic Americans who are always fearful lest our tariff laws will offend foreign countries. To hear their cries of anguish which are distributed from the press bureau of the Democratic national committee one would imagine that this was the only country in the world that practiced the policy of protection. In truth, nearly all the countries of Europe have such tariffs, and they apply them without the slightest thought of how they are going to affect the United States. If they had their way our tariff wall, which has been erected for the benefit of American labor, would be lowered or torn down altogether. No one can blame them for that. But there is ample reason for blaming such of our own legislators as would enact laws for the benefit of Europe instead of their own country.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Kidney Stone and Colic.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Persons who lead sedentary lives are liable to have health hazards which much receive careful attention. Especially is this the case where there is lack of exercise and a wrong diet. It is more common in certain types of occupation which help to make flaccid muscles. It comes, too, when there is a poor working condition of the various glands and secretions of the body.

Kidney stone and resulting painful colic is one of the health hazards in question. It seems to be a very common condition today.

Those who suffer with gout, or a too abundant amount of uric acid in the system, may have it. Wine drinkers and heavy eaters are affected by kidney stone and colic.

Instead of remaining in solution, and being carried along by the kidney current, sometimes the solid materials accumulate in one of the kidney cavities. This forms at first sand-like substances, which later grow to the size of gravel. Three materials go to make up this substance—phosphate and oxalate of lime and uric acid.

Some of these substances are fine and others coarse. Some are sandy or crumbly, and others hard as rock. They may be smooth, or jagged and do much harm. They vary in size from that of a pea or bean to a hen's egg.

If particles of sand-like substance appear in the urine as it is passed, and if at the same time there is a dull pain in the loins, kidney stone may be suspected. The diagnosis will be confirmed if blood also appears in the urine.

Connecting each kidney with the bladder is a narrow tube about eighteen inches long. This is the "ureter." When one of these stones begins its passage through one of the ureters, the pain is excessive. This pain is called "kidney" or "renal" colic.

This colic comes on very suddenly. One may be awakened from sleep with it. The pain may be felt after lifting, or violent exercise.

The pain is first felt in the loin or groin, and soon extends to the back and abdomen. The patient suffers intensely, there being nausea, vomiting and even fainting. The patient's face is bathed in perspiration, the pulse fails and he collapses.

While the doctor is being summoned, there are some measures which may relieve the sufferer. Get the patient into a hot bath, running the water hot as can be borne. Or you may apply hot water compresses. Hot drinks are comforting.

For one who is subject to this trouble, he should live simply, get plenty of sleep, exercise, and fresh air. He should eat easily digested food and avoid rich and highly seasoned foods. In this way his health will be improved. — Copyright, 1930, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Friday, July 29.

The state was planning to take action in the strike of the Columbus street railway employes to put an end to promiscuous rioting.

The throne of Spain was thought to be tottering; that King Alfonso would be forced to abdicate.

The highest temperature was eighty-six and the low, seventy-two.

Edward Schrock, twenty-four, who disappeared from Marion in his boyhood, took his life in Norfolk, Virginia, as the result of a heart affair.

But six hits were scored off Baxter, while Marion made eleven off Clickenger, and Marion won from Newark, three to one.

D company was ordered to report in Columbus for riot duty.

Mrs. Luther Creasap, residing three miles west of Marion, fell and broke her right ankle.

Dr. J. G. McNamara, formerly of Delaware, located here.

William Stockman, who had suffered an injury to his right eye some time previously, had the eye removed.

Rev. George M. and Mrs. Rourke were taking a trip down the St. Lawrence to Newfoundland.

A marriage license was issued to Eva Clo Bellis and James George.

The Word of God.

And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which also ye are called in one body; and be ye thankful.—Col. 3:15.

At the Hague.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

The Hague, July 29—My ideas of Holland were plucked chiefly from Dutch cleanser ads, and music revue numbers featuring bright red windmills, a chorus in starched blue pantaloons, wooden shoes and baggy caps singing "Tulip Time." Windmills are still here, but costumes might be by Moe—walk up and save $10—on Sixth avenue.

Only peasant children wear wooden shoes any more—pink-cheeked little rascals as roly-poly as butter balls. But farmlands from Antwerp to The Hague offered the story book coloring. High tile-roofed barns with clocks inset over doors and black and white Holsteins against the billiard table green of flat countryside.

Farm produce carts are drawn largely by panting Newfoundland-like dogs, harnessed underneath. Roadways, the best in the world, are lined with hackleberry trees and giant elms and the woods are ablaze with purplish rhododendrons. Belasco could not think up such entrancing vistas. Holland is below sea level—hence its marshes.

Everywhere is evidence of the Netherland's chief industries—cheese-making and bulb-growing. The industrious Lausfrau, for which Holland is noted, exhibits her handiwork in brightly-scrubbed doorsteps, blooming window boxes and glistening clear window panes. It is a custom to scrub fronts of homes weekly.

The loveliest village I ever saw was Delft, famous for its blue and white ceramics. It offered the fragile suggestion of a Dresden china doll, a rustically emphatic spot with its heavily-shaded streets, rows of brilliant hotels, shining knockers and white rose bushes with blood-veined leaves. Why will we live in cities?

The Hollanders with flaxen hair, cold blue eyes and high coloring strike you at first as phlegmatic and unemotional. We have all heard the jeer—"a wooden-headed Dutchman." Yet no mortals could live such a close-knit family life without an extraordinary sentimentality. But here is The Hague!

• • •

My first impression The Hague was not of the peace symbolizing Holland's unfailing neutrality, or of its aristocratic wealth or international lawyers in frock coats and high hats carrying gold-knobbed canes. I shall remember The Hague for two things: The hotel bell boy in a uniform of light blue who came down hotel steps to meet us wearing white spats, and projecting window mirrors that permit housewives to see everything in either direction along the sidewalks without leaning out their windows.

• • •

The Hague's stiff aura of culture fairly crackles. On the verandah of The Witte-brug, where I clawed half way through an Edam cheese, there were at least twelve gentlemen who could pass for Charles Evans Hughes. The ladies were silver-haired lorgnette lifters and conversation was in polite whispers. I would pop in all merry and bright with a grassy green shirt and a bull dog. Just another uncouth American.

• • •

After lunch we saw the famous peace palace and strolled to the Zeekant—the seaside at The Hague's doorstep. The Zeekant is Holland's Atlantic City, with huge hotels and enormous pier, but ultra circumspect and without roller chairs, one piece bathing girls, salt water taffy and such. Everybody sat in wicker chairs under severely plain sun umbrellas. I wanted to dash to the surf shouting: "The last one in is a soandso!"

• • •

The Park avenue of The Hague is a promenade with triple roadways, bicycle paths and canopied with leafy oak branches. It is called "Oude Schevening Schewey," unless the fellow I asked was overcome with a sneeze. On the walk I saw a real load of men in what appeared to be one of our patrol wagons. I was told it contained the queen's night shift of servants. The queen's palace is at the end of the "Oude," a simple two-storied structure of pure English design in white stone.

• • •

Leaving The Hague, we passed through Rotterdam. The hurried drive revealed blocks of bay-windowed flats over shops, streets fairly clogged with bicycles and cottages on thin canals with entrance foot bridges and lift gates brightly painted. One of the streets we traveled was Schiedamshie Dyck—pronounced She-dam-she-dike—and I can't quit saying it.

Nearing Amsterdam we went through Haarlem, for which New York's Harlem was named. I wondered if people there had ever heard of Florence Mills.—Copyright, 1930, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

From Our Readers.

HIS IDEA OF PROSPERITY.

Editor Star—Did you ever see or know any one that always advocated the theory that we must go backward instead of forward to have prosperity (that was progressive? I never have. What makes our country prosperous? Is it low wages? Let us dwell on that a moment. How many other countries are as prosperous as the United States? And why are they not? I'll tell you. It's because the laboring classes of people do not receive a decent wage. Do you think that the American workers can or will go back to the times of long ago? It is not sane thinking for any one to think so. In this day and age, with the automobile, radio, airplane and what not, I do not believe that the wage-earner will go back to the horse and buggy and other inconveniences. I do not believe that any one—laborer or merchant, manufacturer or what have you—wants to see everything go backward. They want everything to go forward. If the common people have money, business is good, every one prospers and have plenty because they, the common people, are the ones that spend money when they make it.

You know that if you pay a worker two dollars a day as a general rule you get two dollars' worth of work and if you pay five dollars a day you get five dollars' worth of work. Every business man knows or should know that he cuts his own throat when he cuts the working man's wage. So the way I see it is for every one that employs people to pay them not only a living wage, but a saving wage. I believe in the merchant, manufacturer and every one in business making a fair and just profit. But why make a big profit at the expense of labor, when labor is the only factor that creates wealth? You know if you had a mountain of gold and could get no one to mine it for you it would do you no good.

I want to see every one have plenty to eat and wear, and also to be able to have a little recreation, and every one happy and content for that is all we get out of this life anyway, and we can not take anything with us when we are called across the great divide. But the laborer can not have this on a low wage. So I hope every one will give this their most careful thought and use the golden rule just a little bit more than we have used it in the recent past. And if all of us laborers as well as business men and women do, I am sure that there will be no argument about wages or prices or anything. I know some business men that are not making expenses and why is it? Is it because the workers are getting too much salary? Is it?

Changes of Beauty Aids Advised in Summer Months

BY JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

DURING the Summer months most skins tan a little, even though one doesn't go in for obvious sun-tan effects. Therefore it is well to watch the skin carefully to be ready with a change of rouge and powder so that the complexion is carefully blended.

Undoubtedly some of you already have noticed that your make-up seems to be a little off-key and many more will have the same trouble as the Summer months develop. Also, the early Spring winds are far more tanning to the skin than many women realize. I know, I thought I hadn't tanned a bit until a few days ago, when I suddenly realized that it wouldn't be a bad idea to get out a peach puck and even up the tones of my skin.

I should have been warned several weeks ago, because recently I've had to put on rouge far more plentifully than usual, so much so that the amount necessary to give the familiar tint to my cheeks became so great I was forced to wonder why. Then it dawned on me what the trouble was, so I switched to Summer rouge.

More Orange In Summer Rouge

By Summer rouge I mean a shade which has a little more orange in its composition as well as a brighter shade than is suited to the complexion under normal conditions.

Tanning naturally adds brown to the skin and both red and yellow are necessary to make a brown shade. Therefore, the same principle is applied to face rouge when the coloring of the skin is deepened. Tanning must not be confused with burning because the former adds brown tones to the skin, but burning accentuates only the red ones.

It would be inadvisable to try to blend rouge to a reddened complexion, the better plan being to bleach out the redness and regain one's normal coloring.

But the tanned skin, which just darkens gradually and naturally as the warm season progresses can be kept true in color value much easier than it can be bleached out.

Regardless of your natural complexion, rouge should suggest a little more orange and a little brighter red than at other times, and this is the most specific rule that could be given without personal observation. But with that suggestion for a guide, you should be able to make a satisfactory selection.

Face Powders in Darker Shade

Face powders also should be a little darker and contain more rose than when the skin is fairer. This, too applies generally because the gradual tanning requires an ecru or rachel predominance, with sufficient rose to give the same warmth and depth to the powder that the sun gives to the skin by tanning it.

If the skin burns I think you'll find the old favorite—white of egg—the quickest and best method or reducing the redness as well as relieving the pain. It should be applied, however, just as quickly as possible after you notice that the skin has been burned.

Just beat the whites of two or three eggs and when they are stiff smooth the froth over the burned parts. Let the preparation dry on the skin and do not remove it for an hour at least. A washcloth should be saturated with cold water and then pressed to the skin to soften the white of egg throughly before attempting removal. Continue the cold water applications until the albumin is entirely wet, then wipe it off, using a washcloth and keeping it very wet.

The white of egg seals over the skin, keeping the air from it, and relieves almost immediately the pain attendant to sunburning. Then as it dries it bleaches out the undue redness, making it possible for you to continue the use of your usual shade of rouge and powder.

HOMECOMING HELD

100 Meet at McCurdy Home Near East Oxford Sunday.

ASHLEY, July 29 — The annual East Oxford homecoming was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCurdy, Sunday. There were about 100 persons present.

The following program was presented: song, America, by entire group; welcome, Max Kobler; duet, Lois and Erma Martin; reading, Mrs. Marion Hatton; recitation, Mildred Fleming; dialogue, Doris Main and Janet Westbrook; recitation, Irene McCurdy; reading, Mary Maloney.

Those present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mengart, and son and Mrs. Harriet Dixon of Centerburg; Mrs. Robert Beaumont, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Conda Petty, all of Delaware; Fred Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jacoby and children, all of Columbus; Arthur Bell, of Sunbury; Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hatton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Held, all of Kilbourne; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Strine, of Marion; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fleming and son of Ostrander; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson and daughter of Fredericktown; and Mrs. J. Hard Luck Jinx Pursues Hardin County Farmer, 94

Special To The Star

KENTON July 29—Martin Van Buren Kissling of McGuffey will be 94 Jan 24 and though he has been engaged in tilling the soil for about 82 years he has not given a thought to the matter of retiring

In every sense of the word he is an optimist in view of the fact that some time before he reaches the age of 100 he expects to sow and harvest a crop of onions on his Scioto marsh land all in the same year Each spring, for several years Kissling has sowed onions only to see them blown out at least twice

Last year after the loss of his second planting, Kissling turned to potatoes and had a fine crop but prices were low This year the wind twice made short work of his onions before they had a chance to sprout Again turning to potatoes Kissling raised a substantial crop but visiting his fields recently he found thieves had made a raid and had taken a quantity of the maturing crop

A few days later frost which chimaxed a hot spell in Hardin county caused still more loss

BLACK LEAF CAPTURES FEATURE RACE

SHORT SHIP OPENING SEES FAVORITES WIN

13-Class Trot Forced To Go Extra Heat Before Palin Mount Romps Away with First Money.

BY BOB ELLIOTT

With the thermometer ranging steadily around the 95-100 region, Marion's Short Ship racing season got under way yesterday afternoon at the fairground oval. The opening crowd was fair enough as opening day crowds go although the greater share of the grandstand occupants were women, admitted free of charge.

The 13-trot, the feature event of the afternoon's program, was forced to go four heats before a winner could be named. Black Leaf, with Sep Palin up, made a late rally to cop the third and fourth trips to capture first money. The gelding finished second in the first two heats, Peter Dillon copping the first and Aquatania leading the field in the second.

Fast Mile

The first heat of this race was one of the fastest miles ever run over the fairground track in Short Ship competition, Peter Dillon winning by a nose in 2:07½. The Dillon lost managed to stave off a beautiful home stretch race by Black Leaf to win. Palin's mount was a 3 to 5 favorite while the winner was quoted at 4 to 2. Mahoney piloted Aquatania home to victory in the second heat after the little mare had broken at the one-quarter-mile mark only to recover and race to the win. Black Leaf and Peter Dillon, even money choices, were just behind.

Both Aquatania and Peter Dillon threatened Black Leaf in the third and final heats but the latter had too much left. Aquatania led most of the way in the third heat but gave way on the stretch to the winner. Peter Dillon led the first half of the extra heat but Black Leaf took the lead at the three-quarter pole and was an easy winner.

Joe Dillon, owned by H. G. Peck of Mansfield, was the only straight heat winner of the day, taking the first two heats of the 21-17 claiming pace. Ruth J. and Ettamace gave a little opposition to the Peck horse but not near enough. Ruth J. carried away record money by taking the last heat from Ettamace in a slow mile. Peter Shuff, a 10 to 2 shot, led part of the way in the final heat but slipped in the stretch to end up third. Dillon was an even money choice in the first heat and a 3 to 10 favorite in the second.

Guy Leaf furnished the long chance boys with their only break when he copped the second heat of the 24 class trot, the opening event, with the odds quoted at 8 to 2 against him. Guy Duffey, piloted by Valentine, copped the opening and closing heats in close finishes to take away first money.

Here and There at The Races

QUITE a bit of difference in the opening day weather this season from the last year. Topcoats were quite the thing last season but starter Steve Phillips was the only man in sight yesterday with a coat on. He looked it too. The pop and lemonade vendors did a whale of a business even if the crowd was small. Even the horses looked a little tired with the heat.

* * *

The crowd was pretty meager considering the caliber of horses scheduled to run in the three events. About 80 percent of the grandstand inhabitants were women. You called it, Oscar, it was Ladies' Day and it didn't cost a cent to get in.

* * *

The biggest improvement at the track is the broadcasting system that enables Phillips to broadcast the results of the heats to all corners of the track without the least bit of trouble. Four big amplifying horns carry the announcements. In between races the broadcasting set carries programs of music and announces the entrants in each race as they are led from the paddock in front of the grandstand. Nice going, Frank, it's a big help.

* * *

The track was fairly heavy and not all the water in Lake Erie could have been used and I think it would still have been dusty. They kept sprinkling water in between the heats but dust flew high, wide and handsome when the ponies came down the stretch past the stands.

* * *

No extra admission was charged into the grandstand yesterday and the same system will probably prevail today. However, with the advent of the four-event days on Wednesday an extra charge will probably be made to sit in the big stands. The fans must have been a bit "leery" because a goodly share remained standing along the rails in preference to the grandstand seats.

* * *

The 13 trot was a fast race and probably the fastest mile ever run on an opening day's program was reeled off by Peter Dillon in the first heat—2:07½. The boys really piloted the rigs around the oval. Palin waited a little bit too long to let Black Leaf out.

* * *

The seven class pace this afternoon should attract a good crowd. The feature event of the meeting has drawn an entry list of five horses—and what horses! Here they are: Lahrador, Joe Lewis, Patchen Boy, Callie Direct, and Dean Wilson. Some list. Just take your choice. The local track record of 2:08¾ has a good chance of being broken if Palin, Cartual, Parshall, etc., send the horses through their paces in this event.

* * *

Four events on Wednesday's card, headlined by the 32 class pace. This pace and the 18 class trot carry purses of $500 while the 17 class pace and 22-18 claiming trot are worth $400. This is the big day of the week and the association is looking for a banner crowd.

Root Sets New Season Strikeout Mark in Loop

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 29—Charlie Root, Cub right-hander, has set a season strikeout mark for National league pitchers to date, in defeating Cincinnati yesterday Root struck out 12 men, one more than the previous best season effort made by Wild Bill Hallahan of the Cardinals, in his first appearance of the campaign against the Cubs.

CARNERA TO FIGHT IN CLEVELAND TONIGHT

Ambling Alp To Oppose George Cook, Australian Heavy King.

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, July 29—A speedy workout was on tap for Primo Carnera, giant Italian ring master, today, in preparation for his scheduled bout here tonight with George Cook, Australian heavyweight.

Carnera, according to Frank Borello, fight promoter, has arranged for a postponement of his hearing for deportation to Italy, and was expected to arrive in Cleveland this morning from New York.

Carnera and Cook were slated to weigh in at the Mammy Robbins' gymnasium at noon. It is believed that Carnera will have a weight advantage of 75 pounds or more on Cook.

The Ambling Alp and the Australian boxer are expected to draw a crowd of at least 10,000 spectators.

Four six-round bouts and one four-round melee will precede the main attraction. The pairings for the preliminary bouts are: Sunny Jim Williams vs. Arvin Spence, light heavies; Tiny Powell vs. Frankie Lennon, heavies; Lou Nickoletto vs. Joe Zemon, middleweights, and Sam Cohen vs. Ellis Ehret of Akron, heavies.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Lee Street 12, U. B. 1.

Presbyterians 6, Reformed 4.

Wesley 17, St. Paul 13.

Christians 5, Forest Lawn 5 (called end 9th account darkness).

Lee Street clinched the championship of the second Sunday School league by whipping the United Brethren nine, 12 to 1, last evening. The victory allowed the "streeters" to keep their three-game lead over Wesley and Forest Lawn and inasmuch as the season has only two more weeks to go, the lead is as good as gold. The new No. 2 champions not only are now eligible for the Little World Series competition the first of September for the city championship but also will play in the First Church loop next season.

Two big innings gave Lee Street its victory over U. B., the winners scoring six times in the second and the same number in the fifth. Fadley hurled good ball for the victors giving up only four hits, three of which were combined in the fifth for the losers' only tally. J. Richards and Marshall clouted home runs for the winning team, while Bob Tuttle got two of the losers' four hits.

Battle to Tie

Christians and Forest Lawn gave Elmer Shaw another postponed game to worry about when they battled nine innings to a 5 to 5 tie that was called on account of darkness. The Christians got to Mutt Kellogg for three runs in the sixth and two in the seventh to tie up the game. Forest Lawn had the bases filled and nobody out in the ninth but failed to score. Hill and Benson hit and Converse walked but Kellogg and Fellmeth both hit to Overfield who forced the runners on third out at home. F. Vestal hit for G. Peadon and struck out.

Wesley fooled around with St. Paul in their tilt at Lincoln finally emerging on the long end of a 17 to 13 count. The second place team went into the seventh leading, 17 to 5 and decided to give the losing team a chance and donated eight runs before they called a halt to the proceedings. G. Lashley and Bush both collected four hits while Cluff got three for the winners. Gates, St. Paul catcher, hit safely three times.

Presbyterians scored twice in the seventh inning to take a 6 to 4 decision over First Reformed. The winners collected eight bingles off Meiley while Caldwell was giving up five. Cunningham and Pohler helped along the Presbyterian cause with circuit clouts in the first and third frames.

Score by innings:

Forest Lawn ..... 020 111 000— 5
Christians ..... 000 003 200— 5

SIGNS WITH SPARTANS

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., July 29 — Stanley Weigs, All-Eastern guard at Holy Cross college, is the 36th player to be signed by the Portsmouth Spartans, professional football team, for play next season.

CHAMPS GET OFFER

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., July 29 — An offer of $50,000 to Jack Thompson, Los Angeles negro world welterweight boxing champion, to meet Tommy Freeman of Cleveland, in a title 15-round bout the latter part of August, was under consideration today by Ray Alvis, Thompson's manager.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Hollis Thurston, Robins — Gave Braves only two hits and blanked them, 2-0.

Bill Terry, Giants—Hit pair of homers and two singles to account for four runs against Phillies.

Mickey Cochrane, Athletics — Singled with bases filled in twelfth to drive in run that beat Yankees.

Dick Porter, Indians—His ninth inning double drove in tying and winning runs against Tigers.

Charley Root and Guy Bush, Cubs —Held Cincinnati to 15 hits in double-header and beat them twice, 3-2 and 5-3.

Ted Lyons, White Sox — Pitched effectively and drove in winning run in ninth with double.

THE VICTOR

"Young" Stribling, American heavyweight, put himself right back into the championship talk with a two-round kayo of Phil Scott last night in England. The latest has Stribling matched with Victor Campolo, the South American freight train, in September

St. Paul Youth Advances From Caddy to Comeback

By The Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 29—Caddying is hardly in keeping with the dignity of a golf champion. Therefore, Horton Smith, professional of Cragston, N. Y., has lost a good caddy for the $10,000 open tournament scheduled for St. Paul, Aug. 15-17.

Pat Sawyer, 17-year-old caddy-golfer, of Minneapolis, won the state amateur tournament at Rochester, Minn., last week. When Smith was at Minneapolis for the national open three weeks ago, young Sawyer promised to caddy for him at the St. Paul open.

But now Pat has decided to become a contestant in the open.

THURSTON GIVES UP TWO LONELY BINGLES AS ROBINS WIN AGAIN

Cubs Gain a Little Ground by Trimming Reds Twice in Windy City Tilts.

By International News Service

New York, July 29—Nothing like success, they say, and so today the man nobody knew became the observed of the observers.

Hollis Thurston, American league castoff ignored for weeks in the Brooklyn squad until he suddenly jumped from the hard bench of forgotten men seven days ago to shut out the Cardinals with three hits, paved the way to become the leading hurler for the Robins as he blanked the Braves of Boston with only a brace of bingle-bangles. Twenty-nine of Boston's stalwarts marched to the plate and then marched right back again, only four resting their spikes on first base. Thurston's 2 to 0 win made it six in a row for the soaring flock.

But the Robins did not gain in league standing for the Cubs defeated the Cincy Reds in a twin bill, 3 to 2 and 5 to 3. In the opener Charlie Root outpitched Benny Frey and Guy Bush hurled the Bruins to victory in the tea timer, allowing the Reds only eight hits.

Mickey Cochrane's single with the bags bogged in the twelfth inning won, 6 to 5, for the Athletics over the Yankees. Ruth didn't get a hit and it was the Yanks' third straight loss.

After hitting two homers and two singles Bill Terry stepped up to the old block in the ninth inning with the score tied, and the bases filled and pole a sacrifice fly that scored the winning run, 5 to 4, for the Giants over the Phillies.

Pitcher Ted Lyons won his own game for the White Sox, whacking a double in the ninth to score Tate with the result: Sox 6, St. Louis 5.

J. Sewell walked, Pitcher Jablonowski singled and Gardner Porter doubled to score the lying and winning runs in the ninth as Cleveland rallied to lower the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 6.

Washington and Boston in the American plant and Pittsburgh and St. Louis in the National circuit were idle.

Davis Cup Fans See Coming Star in Metropolitan King

By International News Service

SEA BRIGHT, N. J., July 29—Is Ellsworth Vines, the 18-year-old Pasadena, Cal., youth who beat Frank Shields and Frank Hunter on his way to the Metropolitan turf court championship, the real thing?

Is he the Davis Cup hopeful of 1931, the coming national champion—or is he just another flash in the pan?

We'll soon know. He meets Shields again here this afternoon, opposing the Roxbury School star in the second round of the Sea Bright Lawn Tennis and Cricket club's annual invitation tournament.

Tomorrow, if he passes Shields, Dick Williams, former national champion and Davis Cup captain, will take a crack at him in the quarter-final round. And then on Wednesday, if he lasts that long, Frank Hunter, thirsting for revenge will be waiting for him.

Judging by Shields' work against Phil Neer yesterday, when he crushed the former intercollegiate champion under a 6-0, 6-3 score, Vines' task here will be harder than at the Crescent Club. Frank is right on top of his game.

Eight matches are scheduled today before the quarter-final brackets in the women's singles of the Sea Bright club's tournament are completed.

From Sarah Palfrey, at the top of the list, to Dotty Weisel, at the bottom, the seeded stars are slated to receive severe tests, and an inroad or two into the honor group would not be surprising.

Miss Midge Gladman, No. 3 seeded star, tackles Virginia Hilleary, champion of Philadelphia, and Miss Weisel, seeded eighth, faces Josephine Cruickshank, a fellow-Californian.

Ethel Buckhardt, No. 4 in the honor group, has drawn Clara Louise Zinke of Cincinnati, while Minnie Palfrey clashes with Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper.

PHIL GIVEN TERRIBLE BEATING BY STRIBLING AT WIMBLEDON

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 29—W. L. (Young) Stribling has tossed aside the caution that used to mar his efforts in the ring and smashed his way once more into the forefront of challengers for the heavyweight championship.

Just five weeks after his sensational one-round knockout of Otto Von Porat, lantern-jawed Norwegian, Stribling stormed through the weak defenses of Phil Scott, English champion, in Wimbledon stadium last night, floored the London tremeau four times in the first round and knocked him out in the second.

A crowd of 35,000 roared approval of the Georgians ferocious attack and jeered their fallen champion.

The American leaped to the attack with the first bell, never gave Scott a chance to make use of his undoubted boxing skill, flailed away at the Briton's body with an educated left hand and had him groggy and staggering almost before the bout had started.

Razz Scott

"Pitiful," "disgusting," "humiliating," the press called the bout today, making no attempt to vindicate Scott. "He was outclassed, outboxed and outpunched," said Sporting Life's expert who added that Stribling was the "best and clevcrest heavyweight in the world, not except Schmeling."

It was apparent in the first round that Stribling was out to end the match as quickly as possible. He smashed Scott all over the ring, and left hooks almost exclusively. Before the round was over the Georgian had Scott on the floor for counts of seven and nine and the Briton was reclining on the canvas for the four time when the bell came to the rescue.

The second round was only a repetition of the old when Stribling rifled his right to the jaw and a thudding left hook to the body that sent Scott to the floor for the long count. Scott arose an agonized expression on his face, quickly got to one knee, vainly tried to rise at nine and fell back on his haunches as the referee counted out.

Stribling weighed 188; Scott 175.

RED INVADERS TERRORIZE CITY

Foreigners Flee as Raiders Pour Into Capital of Chinese Province.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, July 29—Changsha, capital of Hunan province, apparently was doomed today as Communists burned and looted their way through the city.

Foreign gunboats were forced to withdraw from the city due to the lowering of the river level. Foreign property worth millions of dollars thus was left at the mercy of the Reds. Burning and looting was going on unrestrained.

Refugees on Warships

The majority of the foreigners left the city, having boarded warships in the Siang river. Late advices said four missionaries, including W. H. Lingle of the American Presbyterian mission with headquarters in New York, and Allen Cameron of the Faith mission with headquarters in New had remained in the ravaged district. The other two were a British woman, Gertrude Rugg of the China inland mission, and an Italian Catholic priest.

Naval authorities reported they had rescued about 50 foreigners but Lingle, Cameron and the priest had refused to leave. The priest at the last moment decided to go and attempted to reach an American gunboat but was captured by the Communists. The fate of the four was not determined. All were at Chungsiun, a nearby village.

The refugees were reported safe aboard British and American gunboats heading for Tungting Lake.

Population of 500,000

Changsha is a walled city with a native population of about 500,000.

Foreign wireless reports from Changsha said Communists staged a carnival of killing and looting. They apparently sacked virtually all of the city, which lies on the right bank of the Siang and then crossed to an island opposite town which heretofore has been immune to disorders.

Filling Station Permit Issued by City Clerk

Three building permits were issued yesterday by City Clerk Sylvester Larkin. The largest calls for the construction of a filling station at 529 East Center street to cost approximately $3,000. It is to be erected by John Stoll.

The other two permits are for the construction of garages, one to be located at 197 St. James street to cost $75 and the other to be built at 750 Cheney street at a cost of $75.

Condition of Accident Victim Is Improved

The condition of Mrs. Daisy Kreis seemed slightly improved, this morning, City hospital reported. Mrs. Kreis sustained a fractured skull in an automobile accident at Norton Sunday morning. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Osborn of Waldo, and was employed in a Marion ready to wear store. The hospital report stated that she had spent a fairly good night and seemed better this morning.

Commissioners Set Date for Opening of Bids

Commissioners of Marion and Morrow counties yesterday at Mt. Gilead set Friday, Aug. 22, at 10 a. m. as the time for the sale of the joint-county ditch petitioned for by Lelia S. Gilson and Rena Sellers.

The ditch is located mostly in Morrow county but touches parts of Richland township in Marion county. Its proposed deepening, widening and altering will cost approximately $1,200, according to estimates made by the Morrow county surveyor.

ROCKABYE BABY IN THE TREETOP!

The call of the treetops has now been heard by Mrs. J. E. Bell (above), 40 year-old mother, who is the latest to shinny up a tree trunk and take her place among the leafy bows. Roosting on the same perch with Mrs. Bell, who weighs 180 pounds, will be Mrs. Mattie Riser, her 34-year old chum. Both women, of Charlotte, N. C., will not come down off their perch until they have given the famous Hunter brothers another endurance record to mull.

County Tax Payments Pass $750,000 Mark

Collection of taxes in Marion is within $11,000 of the total for the same period last year, as the result of $28,000 being paid into the coffers yesterday.

The $28,000 yesterday pushed the total collected to $737,659.57, as compared to $768,288.73 a year ago.

Nearly 3,000 letters have been mailed by County Treasurer Bert J. Shelton to taxpayers who as yet have failed to pay their personal tax. The letters urge prompt payment to avoid the possibility of a 10 per cent penalty.

CITY BRIEFS

Moose Lodge Meets—Marion Lodge No. 889, L. O. O. M., met last night and transacted business. A meeting will be held next Monday night.

Car Ablaze—City firemen were called to 502 West Center street at about 6 a. m. today to extinguish an automobile fire caused by a short circuit in the wiring. The owner of the car was not known. Little damage was done to the automobile.

Leaves Clinic—Mrs. Ben Jacoby was removed from the Frederick C. Smith clinic to her home at 358 South State street yesterday afternoon in the W. C. Boyd invalid car.

Admitted To Hospital—Mrs. B. C. Parker of 137 Glen street, Yellow Springs, O., has been admitted to City hospital for treatment.

Undergoes Operation — Charles Wood of 104 Wildwood court underwent an appendicitis operation this morning at City hospital.

Goes to Hospital—Master Wayne Luckett of 141 Waterloo street was admitted to City hospital yesterday afternoon for treatment. He was taken to the hospital in the W. C. Boyd invalid car.

Last Rites Today—Funeral services were held today at 10 a. m. for Miss Nettie Prettyman, at First Church of the Brethren. Miss Prettyman died Saturday in Fostoria. Rev. G. G. Cantield, pastor of the church, officiated. Burial was made in the Agosta cemetery. The body was brought to the C. E. Curtis Co mortuary on East Center street last night and removed to the church today at 9:30 a. m.

Prepare for Services—The body of Fred E. Metcalf, killed in the Erie yards early Monday morning, was removed to his home at 453 Summit street this morning from the W. C. Boyd funeral home on South Main street. The body may be viewed at the home until funeral time Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at the home, followed by services at 2 p. m. at Trinity Baptist church. Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor of the church, will officiate. Burial will be made in Oakwood cemetery at Bucyrus.

To Enter Hospital—Mrs. James Silliman, Jr. of Columbia street, left Monday for the Mt. Vernon sanitorium near Mt. Vernon, where she will undergo treatment for pulmonary tuberculosis. Mrs. Silliman was formerly Miss Agnes Cusle.

A stalk of cabbage bearing 13 perfectly formed heads was found in a patch grown by L. P. Hobbs of Houston.
